Calvary Church Always Some Around to Show Late to Make Remarks You Got Tired of Hearing

"His Last", a story of Israel from ancient to modern times, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 6, at Calvary Baptist Church at 1201 West Avenue B. The film was released only a month ago.

The film takes viewers the length and breadth of Israel in company of Cliff Richard and Cliff Barrows. It is a World Wide pictures production and distributed exclusively by Billy Graham films.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that an office boy gets tired of hearing: "Hey, boy!" "So you're the new office boy. Well, if you don't work out any better than the last one, you won't be around here very long."

"Where the deuce is he now? Out in the washroom staring at his hair in the mirror again?" "I hear you're trying to grow a beard now, Wilbur. The best way to get it started is to put fresh cream on your face and let the cat lick it off."

"Fun is fun, but quit playing tricks on Wilbur. One of you guys sent him out last week to get a left-handed monkey wrench and he didn't get back for three days."

"Hey, boy!" "I don't think you should tell that kind of joke with Wilbur here. After all, he's still a kid."

"There's a lot of opportunity here, Wilbur. I started out as an office boy, just like you, and after only 15 years I got promoted to file clerk. That was 10 years ago, and now I think I'm about to get promoted again."

"No, I didn't call you into my office to give you a merit raise, Wilbur. I just needed to get some indoor golf practice. Would you mind standing over there on the far corner of the rug with your heels together and your toes apart? Now, what did I do with that putter?"

"Just cashed your check, Wilbur? How about being a good sport and lend me $10 to tide me over the weekend? By the way, don't mention this to any of the other guys. They might not think it looks so good for me to borrow from a minor."

"Your mother just phoned, Wilbur. She says for you to come straight home from work and get caught up on your sleep."

"Don't fret about it, kid. When I was your age I had a bump on both sides of my face."

"Hey, boy!" "Listen, fellows, let us on Wilbur a little today, will you? He's been secretly sending a single rose every day to the vice president's secretary, and this morning he just found out she's leaving to get married."

"Wilbur won't be in tomorrow. He is leading some other night students in a demonstration to clean up City Hall."

"You must be training to be a policeman, Wilbur. You're never around when you're needed."

"Now where has he gone to?" "Hey, boy! Hey, boy! Hey, boy!"

Meeting for breakfast and a business session, the above members of the Citizens committee made further plans to contact the voters of Hope School District 1-A in an effort to explain the need for the additional 10 mill increase which will be voted on Tuesday, March 10, in the annual school election.

The members were divided into teams of two men each and these teams will contact the personnel of industries in the Hope area. The industries to be contacted are: Standard Generator, Hope Wire Products, Bruner-Ivory Handle Co., Meyers Bakery, Shanhouse and Sons, Inc., Wynnewood, Inc., General Farm Services, Hope Feed Mills, Southwest Wood Products, Homestead Industries, Inc., Cox Bros. Foundry and G. S. Manufacturing Co.

Chairman Russell also told the members that he, Supt. of Schools James H. Jones and Rev. Walter White, vice-chairman of the committee would be on Radio Station KXAR Friday and Monday evenings from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. to answer questions concerning the school millage.

ion leaders and chief rail industry negotiator John P. Hiltz, who also had strongly opposed the 37-day delay.

The delaying bill was rushed through Congress in less than 10 hours Wednesday and signed by Nixon just three hours before the 12:01 a.m. EST strike deadline. The Senate vote was 83 to 0 and the House vote 343 to 15.

"By contrast, the legislation sent to the Congress by the President Tuesday afternoon would have settled the matter in accordance with the desires of the majority of the workers involved as well as the carriers," Ziegler said.

Nixon's bill would have imposed as final a tentative agreement accepted earlier by machinists, electricians and boiler-makers unions but rejected by the sheet metal workers out of fear they would lose jobs to the larger unions.

The settlement would include a 68-cent boost in current $3.60 hourly wages, including several hundred dollars per man in back pay for 1969, and the controversial proposal permitting members of all four unions to cross each others' job jurisdiction lines to do limited amounts of work.

The unions traditionally have jealously guarded their job jurisdictions, but only the sheet metal workers feared the proposal would hurt them. The differing positions have severely strained relations among the unions.

The mandatory settlement proposed by Nixon would last only through this year.

A wildcat strike in Cleveland ended late Wednesday when picket lines were pulled down.

Several hundred rail shop workers failed to return from lunch Wednesday in Omaha, Neb., and New Haven, Conn., while Congress was considering the strike delay law. All scheduled workers showed up for a later shift at the Union Pacific Railroad in Omaha. Penn Central Railroad in New Haven at first planned to seek a federal court order to force the men back, but later changed its mind.

REMAINING (from page one)

Charts drafted by the administration showed the income tax table by the Senate would have provided a tax decrease to a single person with taxable income upward through the $7,000 level, a couple through the $8,000 level, and a couple with two dependents through the $9,000 bracket.

The Senate also approved 31 bills to increase the ceiling on interest on industrial bonds, school district bonds, state agency bonds and the bonds of such smaller political subdivisions as water, sewer and improvement districts.

The Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Burrell Thompson of Paragould to a $200,000 appropriation measure to hold Board of Correction members personally liable for the $200,000 that would be provided by the bill.

The appropriation would be to finance construction of a maximum security unit at Cummins Prison Farm. Under the amendment, board members would be liable if the funds were spent for anything but the security unit.

Last year legislators were angered when they learned that a $47,000 appropriation for development of an intermediate reformatory had been spent on other prison needs.

Both chambers made a minor amendment to a Joint Budget Committee plan that would provide a 5 per cent pay raise for state employees above their regular 5 per cent increases this year.

The Senate adopted a resolution by Sen. Virgil T. Fletcher of Benton calling for establishment of a legislative committee to investigate nursing homes. The resolution needs House approval before it can take effect.

The Senate set the stage for action on bills aimed at solving state prison problems by amending the Revenue Stabilization Act on a 34-0 vote to provide funds for appropriation.

The Senate is following a plan drawn by the Legislative Council to provide $2,366,000 for the Department of Correction. The sum is $1.1 million below the sum that administration spokesmen say is necessary for minimum prison operations.

The amount that would be provided by the council plan is $1,834,000 less than the department requested last week for plans it said were necessary to satisfy U.S. district Court Judge J. Smith Henley of Little Rock, who ruled last Feb. 18 that the prisons must be improved to be constitutionally acceptable.

Sen. Bob W. Douglas of Arkansas introduced Wednesday a bill that would terminate state school transportation aid money to any district that excluded pupils from any school or assigned them to any school on the basis of race. He said the bill would in effect forbid geographical attendance zones based on race and would block busing aimed at achieving racial balance in public school classrooms.

be restrained from any further interference with the integration of Darlington County schools.

Later, state charges were filed against 30 white men accused of participating in the disturbance at the consolidated Lamar High and Elementary School.

More than 150 state troopers continued to patrol the county today.

All entrances to the school grounds in Lamar were sealed off by the officers.

The school has been closed since Tuesday morning, when the white adults, armed with ax handles, chains and bricks, tried to prevent Negro children from entering by breaking windows of two buses. After the children were escorted into the school by troopers, the crowd overturned the empty buses.

Stones and other objects were thrown at the youngsters as they were being escorted inside and some were cut as bus windows were broken.

Wednesday was a day of calm although there were frequent rumors of possible trouble in various sections of the rural county in the northeastern part of the state.

There has been no trouble at any of the other 28 schools in the county which also were placed under federal district court order for full integration at mid-term.

Spokesmen for Gov. Robert McNair said state troopers would remain in the area as long as needed, and that National Guard troops were on the alert in neighboring communities. The guard had not been activated, however.

Democrats Are Changing the Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are changing the guard over an empty treasury and a divided party today, with Lawrence F. O'Brien due to return as national chairman.

In an office which seems to attract more attention vacant than when it is occupied, O'Brien succeeds Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

Despite scattered signals of dissatisfaction, there was little doubt the Democratic National Committee would follow the script written by its executive committee and overwhelmingly approve O'Brien's return.

That reverses the party's last change of command, when Harris took over from O'Brien Jan. 14, 1969.

Harris announced his resignation as chairman a month ago, blaming the criticism of Democrats who didn't like his views and saying he wanted more freedom to speak his mind on national issues.

In his farewell message as chairman, Harris urged the new management to work on a Democratic television program as part of the effort to raise money against an $8.3 million party debt.

Harris said he tried to buy network television time for an April 22 broadcast. He said all three networks turned him down on grounds they would not accept such programming except during a political campaign.

The outgoing chairman said he had pledged of $250,000 to pay for a 30-minute political documentary, which was to have included an appeal for money.

He said he was confident it would have raised far more than that cost.

A public disclosure of the overseas cuts will be held back until the affected foreign governments are consulted, the secretary said.

In the United States, it appeared many bases will be reduced in size. And it was learned that plans call for the closing down of Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station in Brooklyn and the transfer of the Army Intelligence School at Ft. Holabird, Md., to Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.

Manpower reductions range from a loss of 1,550 men at the Portsmouth, N.H., Naval Yard to the elimination of 35 military and 15 civilian positions at Craig Air Force Base in Selma, Ala.

Even though the cutbacks resulted from congressionally mandated economy drives, one congressman already has called the moves another example of poor Pentagon planning.

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., said the Pentagon last year asked to renovate the Army Intelligence School in Maryland. He added the request was granted.

The White House said President Nixon would name a 10-member "economic adjustment committee" to deal with the impact of the base closings.

Daniel A. Henkin, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, said most base closings or manpower cutbacks would be completed within the year.

"The public must be made aware that so-called protective devices, such as sunglasses, smoked glass of film negatives, do not protect the eyes from infra-red rays," said Dr. Fraunfelder.

The last total eclipse of the sun observable in the U.S. was in 1963; and was total only in Maine and parts of Alaska, although all parts of the country experienced partial eclipse. In a survey by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, ophthalmologists reported 247 cases seen by less than half of the country's ophthalmologists. It can also be assumed that many other persons—especially children—may have received eye damage without realizing it, or failed to see an ophthalmologist.

Total eclipse will be experienced in the Southeastern portion of the U.S. at about 1:30 p.m. (E.S.T.) with the total eclipse path averaging 85 miles wide. All of the country will experience a partial eclipse, with the magnitude of sun-blockage decreasing with the distance from the path of the total phase. (For example, the portion of sun-blockage at maximum eclipse will be 72 percent in St. Louis, and 35 percent in Los Angeles.)

The length of totality for areas in the path of the eclipse will average about three minutes.

Sew-n-grow theory helps fight boredom

LIVELAND, Tex. (UPI) — An associate instructor in Spanish at South Plains College has come up with one way to combat boredom and the high cost of living.

Frank Gonzales has learned how to sew and grow.

Gonzales has built a stereo set for his family. He designs posters from a staircase on each side and makes clothes for his wife and children. He also paints, does sculpture and refinishes pieces of "junk" furniture.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Alan King, whose comedy stock in trade is the frustrations and annoyances of contemporary life, needs some more things to get mad at.

As host on Wednesday night's "Music Hall," King seemed almost reconciled.

He did growl a bit about the tangle of electrical appliances in the American home, city traffic, the new jumbo jets and, of course, the institution of marriage. But the program's emphasis was on sketches.

With spirited help from Paul Lynde, Anne Mearns—without the other half of the comedy team, Jerry Stiller—and Michelle Lee, King worked over an amusing assortment of familiar themes. In one he was a celebrity trying to cash a check in a bank without proper identification. In another, he was part of a happy couple trying to patch up a quarreling pair.

It was a light and bright hour. Englebert Humperdink, whose ABC hour will come to a halt at season's end, strolled through another easy-to-take musical hour. The mood was so gentle that even guest Jerry Lewis didn't push too hard.

The British-made series has failed to come up with good ratings for some reason. Its toughest competition is "Hawaii Five-O," and the star is an attractive young man who does very well in nightclubs and record sales.

Perhaps if given an earlier hour, it would pick up audiences.

The "For sale" sign will go up soon on Shiloh Ranch—again. The spread changes hands just about every three years although the ranch foreman, the Virginian, stays on.

"The Virginian" is due for some major face-lifting before its starts its ninth season on NBC. James Drury who has played the title role since the first program, and Doug McClure who joined the cast about a year later, will stay with the series. John McIntire and his wife, Jeannette Nolan, who for the past few seasons have played the parts of Shiloh's owner and wife, are expected to leave the series.

This change will be an effort to put new life and color in the series. When the series started, Lee J. Cobb played the ranch owner—and grumbled at his lot for almost three years. When his contract ran out, Charles Bickford took over and stayed with the program until stricken with the illness that preceded his death. Then the McIntires arrived.

Through it all, the 90-minute series loped comfortably along, not exactly a smash hit, but never in danger.

"My modern home is furnished with my own art ideas and creative challenges," Gonzales said. "It is very livable and kid proof."

Gonzales and his wife, Betty, collect antiques. The headboard on one king-size bed is made of a bathroom door with newel set for his family. He designs posters from a staircase on each side and makes clothes for his wife and children. He also paints, does sculpture and refinishes pieces of "junk" furniture.

HELEN HELP US!

MORE ABOUT THE "GOOD KIDS"

Dear Helen: This is about the letter from the woman who lost her wallet at Christmas and no one returned it. So the family had no celebration.

Two days before Christmas in our town, a 32-year-old man was robbed in the streets. The thug took $600 from him, which he'd been saving to give to his grandchildren and great grandchildren. There went perhaps the biggest Christmas of his life.

A local radio station heard about it and, all day, the announcers asked people to give a dollar or two—or any kind of food or gifts they could spare, to make the old man's holiday a little brighter.

By Christmas eve, over $650 had been collected—and more a dresser vanity was a piano stool. Porch lights are converted into swinging bedside lamps. "I guess I'm just a jack-of-all-trades," said Gonzales. "I do it partly for economic reasons, but mostly because I enjoy being busy."

gifts and goodies than the man and his family could possibly use. Later a daughter-in-law came on the air, to describe the happiness countless people had brought them. It was enough to make you cry, Helen, I did!

It should be noted that this radio station is the "teen-agers' nuthatch" so-called. It does wild, outlandish things that adults don't understand, but all the "crazy kids" listen to it.—ONE OF THOSE "WILD" TEEN-AGERS.

Dear Helen: Liked your nutty predictions for 1970. Here are a few more:

Jackie Gleason will not play hockey with the New York Rangers.

Queen Elizabeth will not meditate with an Indian club leader.

Leontyne Price will not become a go-go girl.

Kate Smith will not sing in a "Swedish" move.

President Nixon will not replace Horowitz at the piano.

Bette Davis will not dance with the Bolshoi Ballet.

J. Edgar Hoover will not be defense attorney for the Mafia.

Helen Hayes will not star in "Hair"

Gregory Peck will not dub for Tiny Tim's voice.

Henry Cabot Lodge will not wear love beads.—A.M.

Dear Helen: If Uncle Sam wants me, he can have me. I won't resist, protest, or defect to Canada. But why does he insist on a clean shave and short haircut for the draftee when he himself sports a beard and shoulder length locks?

I hearby start a movement: Let's give Uncle Sam a new image, like with a shave and haircut. He now resembles an over-age hippie, and as such is not the proper "father-figure" for our upright youth of America! —VERY VERY UPRIGHT.

Dear Very, Very: Could you be the same fellow who returned his "Greetings" to the post office because he considered them "obscene mail?"—H

Dear Helen: I am 13, in the 8th grade. My problem is boys. They want to smoke and make out. I like boys but I think they expect too much of you. How far should I let 'em go?—WORRIED

Dear Worried: You should "let 'em go" another two years, until you're mature enough for dates! —H

Hope Star SPORTS

Lincoln Is Favored Over Hope

By KALM ROUNTON
Star Sports Editor

All the odds are on the table. It's now or never for the Hope Bobcats tonight against Camden Lincoln in the 4-AA Tournament quarter-finals, with tipoff time set at 7:00 p.m. inside Southern State's College's gymnasium at Magnolia. The winner goes to state tournament.

Who knows what might happen. Still, Lincoln's Tigers are the heavy favorite as defending state champions, and they have beaten Hope twice before by margins of 78-41 and 84-66.

As records go, Hope is 13-13 after hammering Smackover 78-58 in the first round Tuesday night. Camden Lincoln is 22-3 with the 4-AA Western Division title at 8-0 already under their belts.

For the Bobcats, it is another of those big ones. The biggest, to be exact, and the rest this season have gotten away. Attitude and team closeness, the main requirements for success from Hope Coach John Ross, have not been overwhelming.

This is no one's fault. It developed from years of losing basketball at Hope High School, to the depths of 4-20 last year, and Ross has gone with only three seniors on a young club.

One of that trio, 6-5 forward Larry Muldrew, averaged 20 points per game and impressed everyone before a painful groin injury took him out two weeks ago.

Now Hope is starting three sophomores and two juniors in the first five, and they get their chance at fantasy against the established Lincoln Tigers tonight.

It is accepted truth that hardly anyone, Hope included, could run with the Tigers for four quarters and upset them. Lincoln has two of the state's best prospects in 6-3 Donnie Davidson, who set scoring records in last year's state tourney as the meet's most outstanding player, and 6-2 forward Eddie Ray Moore, a whiz with the roundball and the high scorer this year.

With such talent and that record, Lincoln could take on the feeling of complacency. Hardly the case.

Camden Lincoln High School, as such, has few days left in existence. The new Camden High complex is virtually complete, and will house the former Lincoln students also when in use.

This pride for the alma mater, and wanting to finish on the highest note, both have supplied the Tigers ample reasons to point for each game with eagerness.

Hope will start 6-6 John Dudley and 6-3 Lynn Norton inside, and they must get rebounds. Outside, 6-1 Charles Frazier takes first duty along with 5-11 Parker Powell and 5-10 David Briggs.

The Bobcats would like the trip to Barton Coliseum, but those 32 minutes tonight could prove too great a task. No matter what the result, the record should show that John Ross did an outstanding job molding a team from scratch and producing a 13-13 mark before tonight.

With everyone back next time around, Hope could be the best. For now, though, the chance is still there, and the result will be known at about 8:30 p.m. this evening.

Prescott Has Advanced to Quarterfinals

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Class A senior boys state basketball tournament moves into the quarterfinals today with four games scheduled at Little Rock's Barton Coliseum.

Hampton, Prescott, Brinkley and Salem advanced to the quarterfinals Wednesday with victories: Hampton edged Tucker 56-54, Prescott blasted Leslie 76-56, Brinkley mashed North Little Rock Oak Grove 76-52 and Salem outlasted Charleston 55-48.

The quarterfinal schedule matches Ouachita and Grady at 1:30 p.m., Jonesboro Westside and defending champion Loneoke at 3 p.m., Hampton and Prescott at 7 p.m., and Brinkley and Salem at 8:30.

The semifinals are set for Friday night with the finals scheduled for 7:30 Saturday night.

Brinkley, beaten in last year's finals by Loneoke, had little trouble with Oak Grove. Brinkley led 42-17 at the half and coasted the rest of the way.

Butch Traylor paced the winners with 18 points. Bill Miller added 16 and Don Owens 14. Curtis Kirby led Oak Grove with 25 points and Ron Price added 13.

Salem trailed 26-22 at the half, but rallied for a two-point advantage entering the final period. Charleston never caught up during the fourth quarter.

Rick York led Salem with 19 points and Charles Willett added 16. Ron LaChapelle paced Charleston with 16 points.

Billy Randall sank two free throws with 13 seconds to give Hampton its two-point victory. Randall scored 13 of Hampton's final 17 points and finished the game with 30 points.

George Turner scored 20 points to lead Tuckerman.

Prescott led Leslie 31-30 at the half, but outscored Leslie 30-7 in the third period. Jerry Langston scored 26 points for Prescott. James Sliton paced Leslie with 16 points.

Hill Ready for Citrus Tournament

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Victory in last week's Doral Open gave Mike Hill a big boost toward future success, the latest winner on the pro golf tour said today before teeing off in the first round of the $50,000 Florida Citrus Invitational.

"Confidence," Hill said, "More than anything winning gave me confidence. Let's face it. This game is about 95 percent between your ears. If you think you can win, you can win."

Hill, who looks much younger than his 31 years, is a plain-spoken, up-the-hard-way sort of guy very much like his more famous brother Dave.

He's a late starter, has been on the tour only two years, and didn't really want to play golf to begin with but decided it beat driving a beer truck.

"Dave was the golfer," Mike said. "He was much better than me, always beat me pretty bad. I wasn't very serious about golf when I was a kid. I always wanted to play baseball. But my father kept on buying me golf clubs, not baseball gloves."

Hill had a checkered early career. He spent one year each in Jackson, Mich. Junior College and Arizona State, then spent four years in the Air Force.

"I didn't do much but play golf," he said. "If you've got a little talent, they'll get you in Special Services and you just work around the gym and play golf. It's not too tough."

After the Air Force he spent five years "doing construction work and driving a beer truck. That's when I started getting serious about golf. I decided it was easier than working."

He had an excellent season his first year, winning more than $30,000 and finishing second in three tournaments. He slipped badly last year, dipping to only $16,000 in winnings before bouncing back.

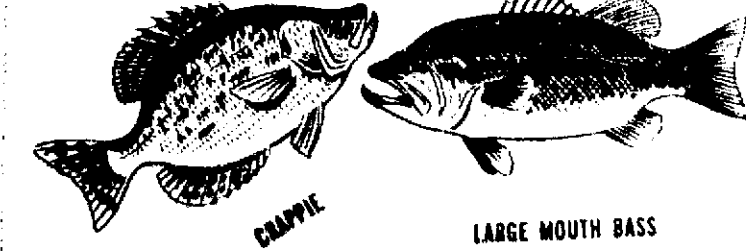

Hill has had little formal instruction — "I kind of teach off Dave's knowledge sometimes."

"The ability to play, strength, timing, coordination, is a God-given gift. I have a natural golf swing. I don't mess with it much. Just leave it alone."

Hill was among the favorites for the $30,000 top prize in the Citrus, being played as an invitational rather than an open tournament for the first time.

Other top candidates included Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Frank Beard, Dave Hill, defending champion Ken Stihl, Bob Lunn and the four major titleholders, George Archer, Ray Floyd, Orville Moody and Tony Jacklin.

Pistol Pete Is Player of the Year

By ED TUNSTALL
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Pete Maravich, who thrilled crowds from the Louisiana Bayous to ocean beaches of Hawaii with his shooting and court magic, is college basketball's Player of the Year. And it climaxed a long and often lonely road for the skinny kid from the Carolinas to the top of the basketball world.

"Gee, this really caps it, this makes it worth every step," the 21-year-old Louisiana State record busting star said when told The Associated Press had named him the season's top player Wednesday.

"Sure, I was hoping I would get it. It means so much," he said in an interview in the office of his father, Press Maravich, who has directed LSU to its finest season in years. "But you never know. There's so many good ones around. It's a real honor. It's very flattering."

The list of credentials are impressive for the LSU shooting star who is rarely satisfied with his crowd-thrilling performances. He broke Oscar Robertson's NCAA career scoring record more than a month ago and a 55-point outburst against Mississippi State Monday night gave him 1,263 for this season, another major college record.

Through 27 games, he's hitting at a 46.8 points per game clip with only Georgia left on the regular season schedule, but the Bayou Tigers have a spot in the prestigious National Invitation Tournament starting next week.

The award given "Pistol Pete" marks the realization of a goal he set for himself when he barely had hands big enough to handle a basketball.

"He's always wanted to be the best, to be No. 1," his father said. "He's worked so hard for it. He's never satisfied with what he does. He's always looking for ways to do better."

He was named to The Associated Press All-American team Wednesday for the third straight year. He led the nation's major colleges in scoring in his sophomore and junior years and is the first player in major college history to go over the 1,000-point mark in three years.

So what's left for him now? To be sure a professional career, something else he's always had his sights trained on, and it's no secret every pro team would like to have him.

Dolphins Are Worried Over NCAA Foe

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Williams, coach of the nationally sixth-ranked Jacksonville Dolphins in college basketball, has an upset stomach and isn't getting much sleep these nights.

Even the 108-97 victory the Dolphins scored over Miami of Florida Wednesday night to finish their regular season at 23-1 didn't help much.

"I haven't had a good stomach for two weeks and the countdown is now slapping us right in the face," Williams said. "We didn't give this Miami game much consideration and if we'd lost it wouldn't have dampened our spirits for the national tournament. Our mind was in Dayton and our bodies in Miami."

Williams referred to Jacksonville's first-round game in the NCAA championship tournament against Western Kentucky in Dayton, Ohio, Saturday afternoon.

"I'm getting very little sleep these days because of worrying about how we'll play in the NCAA," Williams said.

He won't have to worry too much if the Dolphins keep up their 100-point average per game. They finished the regular season with 101.3 average to better the mark of 99 set by Syracuse in 1966.

Vaughn Wedekind's 26 points and 19 from 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore paced the Dolphins but 6-3 Don Curnutt, playing on his home court, took game scoring honors with 40 points.

Curnutt became the second Miami player to score 2,000 points in his career. The first to do it for the Hurricanes was Rick Barry.

Two other NCAA-bound teams, Houston and Utah State, defeated Creighton 62-58 and Brigham Young, 86-73, respectively.

A basket by Poo Welch with 48 seconds put Houston ahead for the first time as the Cougars overcame an 11-point deficit to beat Creighton at Omaha.

Utah State, No. 18 in the Associated Press poll, also won on the road in downing BYU behind the 21-point performance of Marv Roberts.

Weber State, NCAA-bound, scored a 79-72 road victory over Seattle, but the Texas, El Paso, Miners, also NCAA-bound, absorbed a 78-70 licking by New Mexico at Albuquerque.

Ron Becker led the winning Lobos with 25 points. Willie Sojourner paced Weber State with 24.

Willie Long of New Mexico and Dick Gibbs of the Miners were ejected for fighting with five minutes left.

There was another fight at Memphis, Tenn., when Louisville kept alive its hopes of an NIT bid by slaying Memphis State 83-82 on a free throw by Mike Lawhorn with 16 seconds left.

Lawhorn and Fred Horton of Memphis State exchanged punches as the teams were leaving the floor.

Redlegs Swing Hard, Hurling Is Problem

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are no toe dancers. They come out swinging. They remind an old fight writer of a slugger with a glass chin. They climb all over you. Like Joe Frazier, he go down easier than Floyd Patterson when somebody hits them on the pitching staff.

In order to strengthen that vulnerable pitching staff, the Reds made deals that brought people like Jim McGlothlin, Vern Gelsert and Ray Washburn to the club. It remains to be seen whether the new pitching can carry the load.

Sparky Anderson, a second baseman in the old Brooklyn Dodger organization who had a one-year shot with Philadelphia in 1959, has been hired to succeed Dave Bristol as manager. As third base coach for Preston Gomez at San Diego last year, Anderson knows how the Reds look from the other dugout.

"Preston asked me one day if I thought a 9-1 lead was enough against the Reds," said the 36-year-old Anderson. "I told him we'd better get some more. I think we finally won it 10-9."

Houston had them (Cincinnati) 9-0 one day with Denny Lemaster rolling along strong and wound up losing 10-9. And then there was that 19-17 game against the Phillies.

"Some people say the pitching was awfully bad last year, but Larry Shepard, my pitching coach who was managing Pittsburgh, didn't think they were so bad. He thought it was a combination of sore arms and injuries."

If getting in shape can do the job, the Reds' pitchers should be ready. Anderson has them running around the Reds' training complex until their tongues are dragging. They stoop to pick up rolling baseballs and then run some more.

"I'm not going to take any pitcher north if he's not ready to pitch," said Anderson.

Jim Maloney's contract dispute has delayed his start. The club wants to be sure it will get more out of Maloney than the 173 innings last year when he had a 12-5 record.

At the moment Anderson is thinking in terms of Gary Noyes, Jim Merritt, McGlothlin and Wayne Simpson as 7-13 rookies from Indianapolis as his starters with Washburn, Tony Cloninger and Gelsert close behind. Add Maloney and then put Wayne Granger and Clay Carroll in the bullpen and that will do it, barring major surprises.

McGlothlin was 8-11 and Gelsert 1-1 with the California Angels. Both Nolan and Maloney had shoulder problems last year.

The extent of the Reds' pitching problem can be seen from the fact that Granger appeared

Flood Loses Suit to Be Free Agent

NEW YORK (AP) — Having lost the first round Wednesday when a Federal Court judge refused to make Curt Flood a free agent, the outfielder's lawyers in his antitrust suit challenging baseball's reserve clause say they are "considering our next step to further this matter in the courts."

But it was virtually assured that the $90,000-a-year outfielder, traded from St. Louis to Philadelphia last October, would sit out 1970.

Flood said earlier that he does "not intend to play baseball until this thing is settled."

Wednesday, after Judge Irving Ben Cooper denied his request for a temporary injunction that would have made him a free agent able to sell his services to any major league team, Flood issued the following statement:

"Judge Irving Ben Cooper's decision has resolved only that single issue presented to him—whether or not a restraining order should be issued at this time. The basic issue of the legality of the reserve clause remains to be decided and I shall continue my test of the reserve clause in the courts."

"The failure to obtain a restraining order means I've lost my one chance to play ball this year. I can only hope that after a full hearing on the merits that my position will have been vindicated and that my career will not have been ended by the time lost pursuing what I believe to be right."

Flood's lawyers—former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg and Allan Zerman of St. Louis—have several immediate courses of action. They can appeal Wednesday's decision to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, ask for an immediate trial in U.S. District Court or ask for a summary judgment in which the merits of the case are argued before a judge.

Normal pretrial procedures would take months. At any time, Flood could abandon the suit or the parties could reach an out-of-court agreement. However, Flood has said he would drop the matter if the Major League Players Association and club owners are able to satisfactorily modify the controversial reserve clause.

The reserve clause binds a player to the team holding his contract. Flood charges this violates federal antitrust laws, state antitrust laws, recent civil rights acts, common law and the 13th Amendment to the Constitution concerning involuntary servitude. The issue will never be decided legally until it reaches the U.S. Supreme Court since the losing side in any trial could appeal to a Circuit Court and the losing side there could appeal to the high court.

The high court has never considered the reserve clause. It ruled in 1922 that baseball was not subject to federal antitrust laws and refused in 1953, 1955 and 1957 to overturn that ruling.

In denying Flood's motion for a temporary injunction, Judge Cooper noted that his decision meant no irreparable harm to Flood since the 32-year-old outfielder could play this season with Philadelphia while the case goes through the courts.

Jerry West Keeps Lakers in Running

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jerry West continues to breathe life into the ailing Los Angeles Lakers as they await the return of the big man later this month.

The big man is Wilt Chamberlain, who works out today in a team drill at Los Angeles. The 7-foot-1 center has been sidelined since Nov. 7 when he ruptured a tendon under his right kneecap.

The Lakers expect him back no later than March 18.

Another key man, Elgin Baylor, was among the missing Wednesday night when the Lakers downed the Baltimore Bullets—another injury-riddled club 94-91 to reduce Atlanta's lead in the National Basketball Association's Western Division to one game.

It was West who led the way with 32 points, including two clinching free throws with two seconds remaining.

In other NBA games, Boston topped San Francisco 115-110 and Cincinnati edged San Diego 127-125.

Los Angeles tripped Denver 135-122 and Indiana dealt New York a 105-97 defeat in the American Basketball Association.

West scored 13 points in the fourth quarter and five of the Lakers' last 10 after the Bullets had deadlocked the game at 84 with 3:13 remaining.

Jack Martin paced Baltimore with 23 points, Gus Johnson added 21 and Earl Monroe 19, including several key points to keep it close down to the wire.

Rick Robertson added 19 points for the Lakers.

John Havlicek scored 20 of his 31 points in the first half as Boston upended San Francisco. The Warriors wiped out an 18-point second-period deficit and moved to a 98-93 lead early in the fourth period.

Bailey Howell added 21 for Boston while Joe Ellis hit for 25 and Jeff Mullins 24 for San Francisco.

Oscar Robertson sank two free throws with 17 seconds left in leading Cincinnati over San Diego. Veteran Johnny Green came through with a clutch block of Jim Barnett's attempted tying shot.

Robertson finished with 24 points while Connie Dierking hit a game-high 31 points for the Royals. Bob Smith topped the Rockets with 21 points while Elvin Hayes, in foul trouble, finished with 10 points.

Final Poll Lists Texas Team Best

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
For the first time in 10 years a team from Texas, Stephen F. Austin, has been named the No. 1 small college basketball team in the country in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

The unbeaten Lumberjacks with a winning streak of 27 in a row and champions of the Lone Star Conference beat out the Cheyney, Pa. State Wolves, 23-1, in the final tabulation Wednesday by an AP panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters.

Prairie View gained the No. 1 spot in 1961, the first year of the AP small college poll. Since then the honor has gone to Wittenberg, Evansville, Twice, Westminster, Pa., Cheyney, Southern Illinois, Long Island and Ashland.

The 1970 laurels went to the Lumberjacks, who have dominated most of the weekly polls during the season, on the basis of 10 first places and a total of 259 points. Once-beaten Cheyney, which was No. 1 in 1966, polled 211 points, including one first place vote.

The Lumberjacks, whose regulars are Surry Oliver, James Silas, Harvey Hufstetter, Marvin and Ervin Polnick, now will compete in the NAIA championship tourney at Kansas City starting on Monday.

Cheyney will compete in the NCAA College Division championship, meeting Ashland at Reading, Pa. Friday in a first round game.

Howard Payne, another Texas team from the Lone Star Conference, finished third in the final poll with 174 points. Rounding out the Top Ten were Central Washington, Maryland State, Youngstown, Ashland, Puget Sound, South Dakota State and St. Mary's, still another team from Texas.

Completing the Top Twenty were Kentucky State, Philadelphia Textile, Louisiana Tech, Oral Roberts, Southwestern Louisiana, Augusta, Ga., Wartburg, Linfield, Eastern New Mexico and Central State of Ohio.

St. Louis Finally Beats Bruins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
All good things must come to an end—like unbeaten streaks, scoreless streaks, and the leisure of retirement for old goalies.

Boston hadn't lost a National Hockey League to a West Division team all season but St. Louis caught the Bruins Wednesday, beating them 3-1.

It couldn't have come at a better time for the New York Rangers, who had their 130-game scoring streak ended by Detroit, 2-0, but still remained one point back of Boston in the hectic East Division race.

Third-place Montreal also lost, bowing to Pittsburgh 2-1, while ex-teammate Gump Worsley made his debut for Minnesota and found the North Stars' nets much busier than retirement had been. He kicked out 31 shots in a 2-2 tie against Philadelphia.

The Bruins had gone 32 consecutive games without losing to the West—a major factor in their move to the top of the East Division.

But Ab McDonald snapped a 20-game scoring drought and goalie Jacques Plante had the Bruins shut out until the final half minute of the game.

Phil Coyette assisted on McDonald's first goal since Jan. 15 and then scored one of his own as St. Louis hopped into a 2-0 lead. Then Red Berenson hit for the Blues in the Middle period and it remained 3-0 until Phil Esposito connected with only 25 seconds left in the game.

Gordie Howe, who had managed only one goal and two assists in his last nine games against New York dating back to Jan. 11, 1969, scored the only goal the Red Wings needed to beat the Rangers.

Howe's 22nd of the season midway through the second period gave goalie Roy Edwards enough offense to record the victory. Then Howe assisted on a goal by Alex Delvecchio in the third period.

It ended at 130 the Rangers' record game-scoring string. The shutout was the first they suffered since Nov. 6 1968 when Gerry Desjardins, then with Los Angeles, blanked them.

The victory moved the Wings within two points of both Montreal and Chicago, who are tied for third place in the East. The Canadiens were beaten by Pittsburgh with Jean Pronovost's second-period slap shot breaking a 1-1 tie.

Pittsburgh, second in the West behind St. Louis, had to come from behind for the victory on goals by Bob Woytowich and Pronovost. The game-winner went through goalie Rogatien Vachon's pads and dribbled into the net.

Bill Sutherland ruined Worsley's Minnesota debut with a pair of third-period goals that gave Philadelphia its tie against the North Stars.

It was the 22nd tie of the season.

Philadelphia's Mike Hearn, who led club in hitting with 292 last year, remains at first Greg Goosen plucked out of Met's chain, will spell him. Tommy Harper, who stole 73 bases last year, has the edge at second, but John Donaldson is right and third will go either to Rich Rollins, who started there last season, or John Kennedy, who finished there Rating—C.

OUTFIELD—Steve Harley, who hit 277 last season, is being switched from right to center. Stepping into right is Mike Hershberger, acquired from Oakland. Wayne Comer, 245 with 15 HRs last year, stays in left. Two rookies could break in—Roy Foster, 92 RBIs with the Mets' Tidewater farm last season, or Danny Walton, MVP in all the minors last season with a .332 at Oklahoma City. Hall stay, no matter what Rating—C.

TOP ROOKIES—Walton is the best. After him are Foster, Fred Stanley, an infielder and pitcher, Gary Timberlake and Skip Lockwood. Outfielder Floyd Wickler, who saw brief action in Montreal last year, another possible

Wage War in Baseball Continues

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Oakland Athletics' salary war between slugger Reggie Jackson and owner Charlie Finley is heating up just when the pitching mound and home plate are cooling off.

The A's made more news off the field than on it Wednesday as major league baseball clubs continued to play intrasquad contests in preparation for the start of full exhibition play later this week.

The verbal give-and-take between Jackson and Finley picked up because Jackson doesn't want to take the salary Finley wants to give.

Finley said the A's might have to do without Jackson, who hit 47 home runs last season, and Jackson said that was A-O-K with him. The hard-hitting outfielder has been offered $40,000, which Finley says is double what he got in 1969, Jackson says he won't take a penny less than $60,000.

"He might as well ask for $200,000," answered Finley. "It would be the same answer: No way."

Jackson claims he is making $4,500 a month in a land development business in Arizona and would have to take a pay cut to play for $40,000.

"I'm tired of hearing that stuff," Jackson said when informed of Finley's remarks that young Bobby Brooks might open in right field instead of Jackson. "That's like him saying he won't sell insurance," Jackson cracked. Finley made his fortune in insurance.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch—in this case the A's spring training base at Mesa, Ariz.—Fire Marshal Jack Brimhall ordered the grounds crew to stop using gasoline fires to dry out the pitching mound and the plate made soggy by two days of rain.

Brimhall said the Athletics didn't have a permit and when he saw a picture of the incident in a Phoenix newspaper, "I wanted to hide under the bed."

On the serious side, Phil Regan, player representative of the Chicago Cubs, said the Major League Players Association favors a legal maneuver to permit outfielder Curt Flood to play baseball until his court suit challenging the reserve clause is resolved.

A Federal Court judge in New York refused Wednesday to grant a temporary injunction that would have made Flood a free agent, able to negotiate with any team. The 32-year-old outfielder was traded from St. Louis to Philadelphia last October and balked at the trade. He has said he won't play until the case is settled.

Regan also said the Players Association was anxious to head off any strike threat before their current agreement with the owners expires April 5.

"Although I didn't attend the last meeting of all the player representatives, I do know the rank-and-file players do not want a strike," Regan said. "This is the case with the Cubs and I'm told the same situation prevails among the 23 other clubs."

"To avert a strike, we'd like to see all the differences between the negotiators for both the owners and the players settled and a contract signed before the deadline. I'm confident this can be done."

In intrasquad highlights, outfielder Carlos May of the Chicago White Sox tested his severed right thumb in game competition for the first time since he was injured by a mortar shell while on Marine reserve duty last summer. May hit the ball well.

All-Star catcher Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds worked at third base, where he is expected to see some action this season, and handled seven chances flawlessly, including a fine back-hand stop of a line drive.

On the holdout front, the New York Yankees signed infielders Jerry Kenney and Ron Hansen and the Montreal Expos signed outfielder Don Bosch. But, in addition to Jackson, Washington's Frank Howard, Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Tommy Helms, Richie Allen and Steve Carlton of St. Louis and Cleveland's Tony Horton remained adamant.

Panamanian Regains the World Title

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Panamanian lightweight Ismael Laguna learned the value of experience the hard way, then used it with ripping results to wrest the world championship from young Mando Ramos.

The end came after the ninth round Tuesday night at the Sports Arena before 15,577 with Ramos cut near both eyes and bleeding profusely. Under California rules it went as a ninth-round knockout.

Manager Jackie McCoy, decided Mando had absorbed enough punishment from the sharp-shooting Laguna, who won and lost the title when he was 21 in bouts with Carlos Ortiz in 1965.

"When I fought Ortiz, I had no experience and that's why I lost. Now I'm 26 and I have the experience," declared the renowned champ.

Laguna weighed the lightweight limit of 135 with Ramos one-half pound lighter. And the gate hit $150,081.50 with Laguna getting only $81,000 to $100,000 for the man who put the title on the line and lost it.

The Panamanian opened the cut near Ramos' left eye in the second round and worked on its continuously with left jabs and straight rights as he fought at long range.

Ramos, who won the title on Feb. 18, 1969, stopping the late Carlos "Too" Cruz, landed the harder punches but Laguna said, "I wasn't hurt at any time."

The dethroned champ commented: "He didn't hurt me and I told Jack not to stop it. He has fast hands, but he didn't hurt me. I just didn't have any pep. I think I fought a real dumb fight... stepping back and keeping my head up. I should have been moving in and working to the body like we'd planned."

McCoy said he asked referee Rudy Jordan to stop the bout after the ninth round of the scheduled 15 when a cut over Ramos' right eye was ripped wider. Laguna was slightly ahead on points at the time.

"He's a 21-year-old kid and I didn't see any use in seeing him banged around anymore. We'll take him next time."

When that will be remains to be seen. Laguna said he hoped to fight again in May. His manager, Cain Young, said it was a "possibility" that Ramos would be the foe but also mentioned Pedro Carrasco of Sapin.

Desjardins Glad to Be With Chicago

The chunky 25-year-old net-minder knows what it feels like to be behind.

Less than two weeks ago he was behind the porous defense of the Los Angeles Kings — who have been behind further and more often than any other team in the National Hockey League this year.

HOLLYWOOD—(N.E.A.)—Dropping in on "The Name of the Game" set at Universal was, in this case, a happy experience. A m o n g happy people.

Robert Stack was the happiest. He had a right to be. His wife, Rosemarie, was coming along. She'd be all right.

She was in a terrible automobile accident, near Sacramento, in which her friend, Mrs. Art Lund, the wife of the singer, was killed.

Bob Stack says he was working that day. Celeste Holm and he were doing a scene together. It was a scene that, looking back on it now, he feels was prophetic. The two were finding the body of a little boy.

"We were right in the middle of that scene," Bob says, "when the call came through. Ordinarily, of course, when we're on a take, the operator won't ring on a sound stage. But she knew it was an emergency, and rang right through. Bless that operator."

It was, he says, important that he knew immediately. Rosemarie needed plastic surgery and she needed it immediately and Bob wanted the best.

"I only had an hour to get hold of the best plastic surgeon," he says. "Every minute mattered. Fortunately, I got him right away and he was there when he was needed."

Suzanne Pleshette, guesting on the episode Stack was shooting, was happy, too. For one thing, she had a good part.

"This is a wonderful part," she says. "I'm playing a girl who never learned to edit—she says anything and everything that comes into her head. It reminds me of a part I once played on Dr. Kildare.

"You know something? Television has given me better parts than the movies."

Suzanne was also happy because she had had fun the night before at the premiere of "Gaily, Gaily," and she almost didn't make it.

"I had lost all my clothes when the mudslides wrecked our house," she says. "So yesterday afternoon I was shopping for a formal gown—saying 'Have you got anything I can wear tonight?' and the salesgirls thought I was crazy. But I found something."

Rosanno Brazzi, another of the Name of the Game guests, was another happy one. He survived The Survivors without too many scars. He was doing The Name of the Game because he owed Universal (who produced both shows) a show.

"See this set?" he said. It was the luxurious cabin of a yacht. "This is all the furniture here from The Survivors set. They moved the furniture over and then they moved it over."

He believes that the powers—that he were too hasty in killing off The Survivors.

"It was stopped too soon," he says. "The show was beginning to catch on with the public and, more important, we were beginning to understand where we could go with the characters."

So everybody was happy. And, after all, isn't that The Name of the Game?

Foreign Ships Line Port of Haiphong

By DANIEL DELUCCE
Associated Press Writer
HAIPHONG, North Vietnam (AP) — Haiphong has been through hard times, damaged in more than four years of American bombing. Today North Vietnam's No. 1 port is lined with foreign ships almost as far as the eye can see.

The ships bring what North Vietnam needs to keep its industry thriving—new tractors, cranes, bulldozers and steamrollers to repair cratered roads and smashed bridges, trucks of many sizes and shapes to redevelop commercial transportation, and power generators and machine tools for the dispersed factories.

HOPE (AM) STAR, Printed by Offset

The manufacturer's names attested on arriving shipments look like an industrial Who's Who of the Socialist camp—the Soviet Union, Communist China, East Germany, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Freighters from other countries also call at Haiphong. The French merchant marine is perhaps a leader in this trade. This correspondent saw three freighters with bands of blue, white and red painted at the top of the smokestacks.

For a long time, North Vietnamese authorities had to skimp on essentials. Maintenance of public buildings declined but now the city theater has several coats of new paint.

Haiphong's largest park has banners urging workers to fulfill the 1960 plan and halting the 40th anniversary of the Vietnamese Workers' Communist —party.

This correspondent also was allowed to visit the port of Hon Gai, 30 miles northeast of Haiphong and the site of Vietnam's only coal mines. Foreign freighters were tied up in this port, too, and tall steel cranes picked up steelbins of coal and deposited them in the holds.

American bombers demolished several three-story buildings along the busiest shopping street. Many wrecked coal cars still are piled beside the railroad track leading to the waterfront. Several large resort hotels are in ruins. Many fishing boats were reported lost in sporadic strafing.

Nguyen Si Binh of the Quang Ninh Province Red Cross Association said the most tragic toll was the death of 30 persons in a Catholic church, hit during a Mass.

Wood Figured to Recapture Skate Title

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP) — America's Tim Wood gets his chance tonight to defend successfully his men's individual title in the World Figure Skating Championships. Wood, a 22-year-old star from Colorado Springs, Colo., goes into tonight's competition trailing Ondrej Nepela, a 19-year-old Czech, by a slim margin but is expected to overhaul the European champion with a brilliant display in the free skating which counts 50 per cent.

Nepela was ahead after completion of the compulsory figures which also count 50 per cent.

Russia's Irina Rodnina and Alexander Ulanov kept their title in the pairs by scoring 418.6 points in a scintillating five-minute free skating program in the Tivoli Sports Hall. They won gold medals.

Silver medals were won by Ludmila Smirnova and Andrej Surailkin, Leningrad students, for Russia with 416.5 points.

East Germany's Heldemair and Ulrich Walther took third with 410.2

Tackling Federal Fiscal Problem at Its Root

As the Nixon administration strives to make good on its pledge to halt the currency inflation which is forcing prices upward and damaging the American standard of living one is reminded that the Battle of Britain derided by Winston Churchill warned his fellow Englishmen that the battle would be a battle of "blood and sweat and tears." Last week the administration announced that 57 federal programs would be scrapped or reduced in order to save 2½ billion dollars annually.

A cut-back of such proportions will be felt in every part of the country, slowing the economy and provoking obstructionist moves by politicians representing many of the affected communities.

Before you allow yourself to be swayed by political voices you would do well to recognize the hard fact that the greatest single inflator of prices is overspending by the federal government, and unless this is stopped prices will continue to rise until your paychecks are virtually worthless. This can't happen here, you think; but you are wrong—it has happened at one time or another to every government in the history of the world. . . . therefore you can be sure it can and will happen here unless by your personal vote you sustain the cut-back policy.

However severe the effect upon local communities we in the Hope area know it can be "lived with" and eventually overcome. A thunderbolt hit the Hope area two and a half decades ago when Washington announced that the Southwestern Proving Ground, where nearly 1,000 citizens of this and neighboring counties worked, was to be closed and liquidated. It meant hard times for a while, but eventually we overcame the economic setback.

Something of the same sort is today facing the people of Texarkana and Pine Bluff, where military depots are marked for either sharp cut-backs or possible extinction.

Political interference could not save our own Southwestern Proving Ground, and shouldn't have as we look back at it now—and the same Spartan justice should be insisted upon throughout the nation in today's battle to save the All-American Dollar.

Lead-free Gas to Keep Down Pollution

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Nationwide leaders of the automobile and petroleum industries have told an antipollution conference they are in general agreement that lead-free gasoline is both desirable and possible.

The unanswered question at the opening Wednesday of the two-day hearing was when? And there was marked disagreement on how it would affect consumer pocketbooks.

Views of the two industries were expressed at a special meeting of the California Air Resources Board, called by Gov. Ronald Reagan in conjunction with a bill before the state legislature that would outlaw leaded gasoline in the state by 1973.

Leaded gasoline—generally known as "ethyl"—has tetraethyl lead added so the fuel burns more efficiently and with more power. Even "regular" gas usually has some lead added.

About half of today's cars, the board was told, require high octane, leaded fuel. Although the number of such vehicles should drop as the years pass, it is expected they will be a significant factor on the roads until at least 1980.

President Fred L. Hartley of Union Oil Co. of California said the industry could provide lead-free gasoline at little extra cost to wholesalers.

But spokesmen for Shell Oil Co. and Atlantic-Richfield, who said they will introduce a lead-free fuel in their stations this fall, estimated the cost of total conversion of their distribution system to lead-free fuels at between $7 billion and $7.5 billion.

Rail Unions Grumble at 37-Day Wait

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grumbling union leaders postponed a nationwide rail strike today under a 37-day delay ordered by Congress that got the lawmakers out of a politically tough spot but satisfied no one.

"Ridiculous," said Sheet Metal Workers President Edward F. Carlucci, whose union has blocked voluntary settlement of the dispute over wages and job jurisdiction.

"A catastrophe," said William W. Wimpfheimer, chief negotiator for four AFL-CIO unions whose 45,000 maintenance and repair workers have already waited 15 months for a pay increase.

The union leaders said they would order the workers to obey the law but feared wildcat walk-outs.

However, some pickets went to work at a few depots after the midnight deadline.

At Huntington, W. Va., 10 to 15 pickets were walking at the depot, where the Chesapeake & Ohio's westbound George Washington passenger train was due at 3:15 a.m.

"We've been working 15 months without a contract, and that's long enough," said an official of the picketing Machinists Union Local 104.

Pickets also were reported at Union Pacific installations in Omaha, and about half of the regularly assigned men did not report for the third shift at the Missouri Pacific repair shop in Kansas City. "Perhaps as many as 50 men were involved," Missouri Pacific spokesman said.

"The bill preserves the status quo for 37 days but does not resolve the underlying dispute," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler in behalf of President Nixon, who had wanted Congress to order a settlement now.

Members of Congress, many of them dependent on labor support, refused to act that quickly on Nixon's politically touchy proposal to dictate a labor settlement for only the second time in U.S. peacetime history.

But Ziegler said Nixon signed the delaying bill to protect the public from a crippling nationwide rail shutdown, at least for now, while further efforts are made to reach a voluntary settlement.

"We are going to make every effort to do just that," said Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. usery, Nixon's chief troubleshooter in trying to resolve the long dispute.

Usery said he would start immediately trying to arrange new bargaining between the unions.

City Gearing Power to Remaining Serve Poultry Plant and New Feed Mill

The first phase of a $755,000 project designed to improve various facilities for the City of Hope is now underway. Besides improvements the project is expected to bring this area a new feed mill and chicken poultry processing plant.

A contract of $129,150 has been awarded for laying 20,600 feet of 12 inch cast iron water main and 19 fire hydrants. One line will extend to the eastern city limits to Meyers Bakery and another will go the City's northern industrial area.

The northern line will extend to Oakhaven, five miles from Hope and will serve as a transmission line to bring water to the City from three new wells on city-owned property near Municipal Airport. The new wells are part of the planned project.

Revisions are also underway in the electrical system, another phase of the federal-assisted project, to provide more power to a new feed mill complex that is to be constructed by the Kroger Company in the Oakhaven area. The new plant will need 2,500 kilowatts. Kroger Company is also planning a poultry processing plant in the same area that will require the same amount of power. To provide this the Hope Electrical system will have to build some eight miles of new line with large size conductors and considerable regulating equipment. Tentative plans by the Kroger firm call for completion of the feed mill late in 1970 and the processing plant scheduled for 1971.

An electrical line is being rebuilt on the Rocky Mountain road to provide 1,000 kilowatts of additional power to serve a new hatchery and a large group of chicken houses now under construction at the Corn Belt site of the Kroger Company.

The bill, which closely follows President Nixon's recommendations, is now being worked into final shape in the committee.

Previously the Arkansas Democrat had declined to support the measure publicly, although he said he would not block its way to a House vote. "In addition to six weeks bill, it is understood Mills also will handle it on the floor."

Two principal considerations influenced Mills' decision. —He is satisfied the welfare broadening can be financed within the administration's $4.4 billion budget figure. Some estimates received earlier by the committee put the cost more than $1 billion higher.

—The committee tightened the requirements that able-bodied adults in recipient families make themselves available for work and training.

The principal change in work requirements affects the working poor—families with a breadwinner who, however, does not earn enough for family support.

The original administration bill would not have required such persons to register with state employment agencies for referral to better available jobs or to work training.

The committee wrote in registration requirements applying to the working poor equally with the unemployed.

While the measure was considered almost certain to pass the House without Mills' support

Health Agency Says There's No Safe Way to View March 7 Eclipse

An eclipse of the sun is a fascinating, . . . but dangerous sight, warns Dr. F.T. Fraunfelder, Chairman of the Department of Ophthalmology, University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock. Due on Saturday, March 7 is a total eclipse of the sun, with the Southeastern part of the United States in the path of the total eclipse, and all other parts of the country experiencing various degrees of partial eclipse.

While scientists are making the most of this event by using all scientific tools to obtain new knowledge of the sun and its influence on earth, the eye physicians, the State Health Department, the Arkansas Society for the Prevention of Blindness and others who are concerned with vision are using all tools possible to prevent damage to the retina which can occur if all measures are not taken to inform everyone in the best method of viewing the eclipse.

Dr. Fraunfelder says there is no safe way to view the eclipse directly. Although any eclipse poses an eye hazard, the danger of the March 7 eclipse is multiplied—simply because of its availability.

It is estimated that the path of the eclipse will take makes it more available to more people than any other in history. Added to this, said Dr. Fraunfelder, is the fact that the eclipse will be on Saturday, and at approximately midday, further increasing the opportunity for eclipse watching.

The eye damage hazard of an eclipse, said Dr. Fraunfelder, is due to the fact that the sun can be looked at "comfortably". Normally the dazzling visible rays prevent anyone from looking at the sun. And although these rays are blocked during an eclipse, the invisible, dangerous infrared rays can cause damage to the eye's retina, the delicate back inner layer of the eye which transmits images to the brain. The retina is not sensitive to pain, so a retinal burn is not "felt." But retinal burns are incurable, and produce a blind spot in the victim's field of vision—in the vital small area used for reading and all "fine" seeing.

A safe, indirect method of viewing the eclipse, recommended by Dr. Fraunfelder, is a simple projection device which anyone can make. Two pieces

Senate Would Up Ceiling on Some Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate approved 31 bills Wednesday night that would raise the interest ceiling on a variety of types of bonds.

Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock sponsored the batch of bills, which resulted from complaints by public officials that the tight money situation made public bonds difficult to sell.

The bonds fall into four broad categories.

Under Allen's bills, the maximum interest on industrial bonds—such as act 9 bonds—would be raised from 8 to 10 percent.

State agency bonds have a ceiling of 6 percent, but Allen's bills would raise the ceiling to 8, provided, however, that bonds could not go over 7 per cent without approval of the state Board of Finance.

Public school bonds, now under a ceiling of 6 percent, would be given a ceiling of 7 per cent. Allen had said earlier, though, that educators might find it necessary to request an increase next year to an 8 per cent ceiling.

Bonds of the smaller political subdivisions—such as sewer districts—would be given a ceiling of 8 per cent. The current maximum is 6 per cent.

Industrial bonds include those issued by a port authority or for airport construction.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The administration's remaining tax proposals got unfriendly treatment in the Arkansas Legislature and a new income tax proposal that would not add to state revenues was shelved in the Senate.

The House and Senate killed the first income tax bill and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's proposed extension of the sales tax Tuesday, and hinted at a similar fate for the surviving measures to end some exemptions to the use tax and raise the tax on liquor.

The use and sales tax bills in the House were bottled up in the Revenue and Taxation Committee, which turned down a House request to release them for consideration.

Identical bills were reported out of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee without recommendation.

The use tax bill would provide about $3 million in revenue annually. The excise tax on liquor would be raised from 3 to 5 per cent by the other bill, which would repeal the so-called fair trade liquor law. The "fair trade" law sets a minimum markup on wholesale and retail liquor sales.

The liquor tax increase would produce $700,000 - $900,000 in state revenue annually.

The new income tax proposal was tabled in the Senate by voice vote on a motion by Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway without debate.

The measure, pending action in the House, could be revived by the Senate if two-thirds of the members voted to take it off the table, but there was no sign of any sentiment to salvage the bill.

Defeat of the use tax and liquor tax proposals would wipe out the last vestiges of the administration's revenue - producing package. The first income tax bill was designed to produce $20.5 million and the sales tax exemptions would have provided $10 million.

South Carolina and national leaders deplored the violence in which white parents attacked Negro youngsters trying to attend a newly integrated school.

In Washington, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told a news conference Wednesday: "I want to make it clear that this administration does not condone and will not tolerate violence resulting from the lawful desegregation of schools anywhere."

Earlier, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, asked for President Nixon's reaction to the Lamar disturbance, told newsmen: "Any time a group of adults intimidates children to keep them from going to school any right thinking American would deplore and oppose that type of action."

The arrests came 24 hours after U.S. marshals had issued citations against seven white men accused of taking part in the clash.

The citations ordered the seven to appear in U.S. District Court in Columbia Monday to show cause why they should not be arrested.

Jonquil Trail Event Sunday at Washington

Sunday, March 8 will mark the Second Washington, Arkansas Annual Jonquil and Daffodil Trail. Historic and beautiful Washington, has long been noted for its display of Jonquils and Daffodils in the springtime. The original bulbs were brought to Washington, by early settlers well over 100 years ago. The beauty of these blooming bulbs will be at its peak March 8.

The Old Tavern, a 1960 reconstruction, will also be a feature of the Jonquil Trail. The Tavern contains many period pieces reflecting its crowded history. Here Sam Houston plotted the liberation of Texas; here James Bowie and Davey Crockett rested on their way to the Alamo; here Federal troops stopped enroute to Mexico; and here Albert Pike did much of his writings. Visitors to Washington, rarely miss this popular shrine.

An added treat is in store for Jonquil Trail visitors. Guests at the Tavern before the Texas Revolution in 1836 gathered around the fireplace as they warmed what Sam Houston had in mind as he received, in his upstairs rooms, various types of visitors at all hours both day and night. On Sunday, March 8 a roaring fire will once again fill the fireplace in the kitchen of the Old Tavern in Pioneer Washington and each person touring the Tavern will be served a steaming cup of coffee. Washington is located on Highway 4, just nine short miles from Hope, and all roads leading to Washington are good highways, following in some areas the old trails of the Territorial era. Along the drive one can enjoy the glory and beauty of spring as it spreads across the hillsides.

War Deaths in During Past Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide rail strike set for midnight Wednesday has been averted by congressional action, but few persons seem satisfied. Congress passed an order delaying the strike 37 days. President Nixon had asked Congress to legislate a settlement in the months-old dispute. Union leaders said they would comply with the order but were unhappy with the action.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons takes effect today with formal diplomatic ceremonies marking official ratification by the United States and the Soviet Union.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, chairman of the subcommittee that has been conducting hearings on oral contraceptives, says action announced Wednesday by the Food and Drug Administration vindicates his controversial sessions. The FDA said it plans to require detailed warnings of potential hazards on every package of birth control pills sold.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Fulbright says his Foreign Relations Committee needs to investigate further U.S. involvement in Laos despite two hours of secret testimony Wednesday by Secretary of State William P. Rogers. Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield says he feels better about the Laotian situation since hearing Rogers testimony.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reports that 113 Americans were killed in battle in Vietnam last week. It was the highest toll in three months and the first time this year the weekly total topped 100.

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major organizations of eye specialists have warned that direct viewing of Saturday's total eclipse of the sun can cause permanent damage to the eye. They said the phenomenon should be viewed indirectly using a pinhole device and that smoked glass and sunglasses do not stop damaging rays.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has announced plans to shut down or reduce operations at 371 military installations in the U.S. and abroad. The move is expected to save more than $94 million.

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jacksonville City Attorney Ben Rice said Wednesday that an audit had determined that there is a shortage of $15,193.21 in funds of the Jacksonville Water and Sewer Department.

Rice said the information from the audit had been turned over to Pulaski County Prosecutor Richard B. Addison.

Field reports said one Vietnamese civilian was wounded in the mortar attack and damage was negligible.

Although there were only a handful of American advisers at Ha Tien, the U.S. Command in explaining the retaliatory attack said it had "previously stated that if fired upon from enemy positions outside the Republic of Vietnam, U.S. forces are authorized to return fire. This is an inherent right of self-defense against an attack."

A U.S. spokesman explained that "there do not necessarily need to be any Americans there."

Feed Truck in River, Driver Safe

Carl Fuller of Hope Route One and his Montaire Poultry Co. feed truck were swept off a flooded bridge into Muddy Fork River about a half mile north of Nathan Monday afternoon and Fuller barely escaped with his life, Pike County Sheriff Horace Childers reported this morning.

Fuller, headed for Nathan as an unfamiliar road, was unaware that Muddy Fork had been swollen by recent rains. He drove onto the flooded bridge and the swift current took him off the roadway and downstream for about a mile. The big feed tank made the truck buoyant and it finally lodged in some trees. Fuller saved his life by staying with the water-borne truck.

He was rescued by a Mr. Woods of Nathan.

The truck is still in Muddy Fork River waiting on the Road to subside so it can be hauled out, the Hope office of Montaire Poultry Co. said this morning.

Probe Revealed No Element of Hoodlums

(LITTLE ROCK AP) — State Police apparently dropped their investigation of the Southland Fencing Corp. in 1968 after failing to find any basis for continuing to investigate the West Memphis company.

State Police Capt. W. A. Tindal said in a memorandum to Chief Police Director Ralph Scott that "the view of the fact that investigations conducted by police and other investigative agencies have failed to determine any illegal operations by these companies or that they are controlled or dominated by the hoodlum element, I am discontinuing investigation into this matter."

The memo, dated April 10, 1969, was referring to Southland, High Park of Buffalo, N.Y., and two sister firms of High Park — Sports-Two Inc. and Empire Corp. High Park owns 46 percent of Southland.

Scott said the memorandum dated Wednesday along with the information in State Police files concerning the Southland case. Most of the information released about the case was from a newspaper report, which operates a fencing track at West Memphis and previously been made public.

Scott's memo, in part, in the

Official in Saigon Again Convicted

SAIGON (AP) — A military court Thursday convicted National Assemblyman Tran Ngoc Chau for the second time of pro-Communist activity but reduced the 20-year sentence it gave him last week to 10 years.

The 46-year-old political opponent of President Nguyen Van Thieu was accused of illegal contacts with a brother who was a Viet Cong intelligence agent and who is now in a government prison.

As he was led from the courtroom, Chau told newsmen: "When peace is restored, I will be back and serve the nation." Then he flashed the "V" sign with his right hand.

Chau was from Tuyen and quoted reliable sources as saying that much of the derogatory information circulated concerning High Park Corp. could be attributed to Charles J. Upton of West Memphis.

The memo was written April 30, 1968, and Upton was president of Southland at the time. His son, Richard, later became president and general manager of the track, but resigned last week.

Senator in Defense of Pill Hearings

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson says "historic and dramatic" action by the Food and Drug Administration vindicates his controversial hearings into the safety of birth control pills.

"This decision alone justifies our hearings," said the Wisconsin Democrat Wednesday after the FDA announced plans to require detailed warnings of potential hazards on every package of pills sold.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards announced the agency's plans as the subcommittee wound up its hearings into potential hazards of the Pill.

The FDA now requires package inserts only in shipments to pharmacists who are supposed to pass them along to doctors.

"One of the specifically enumerated purposes for the pill hearings before the subcommittee of the Small Business Committee was to examine the issue of informed consent," said Nelson, the panel's chairman.

In nine sessions, the subcommittee heard 37 witnesses emphasize a broad range of known and suspected hazards from the Pill, including diabetes, cancer, fatal and nonfatal blood clotting, high blood pressure, mental depression and heart trouble.

The hearings kicked off a storm of protest among medical experts and specialists in population control.

They accused the subcommittee of creating panic among pill users and predicted thousands of unwanted pregnancies would result. One witness said there would be 100,000 Nelson babies.

"The FDA decision to propose a package insert for the user as a matter of safety is a historic and dramatic step forward," Nelson said.

But the Republican minority on the subcommittee, local point of charges that testimony was withheld against the Pill, served a true purpose: to "shake the record" was far from over.

"American women are entitled to know the facts and since the subcommittee has proceeded forth only contrary, it now has an overriding and immediate responsibility to make a report reflecting forth findings and conclusions," said Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan.

Top photo shows members of the Executive Board of the Hope Junior Auxiliary prior to the chapter's meeting in the Hempstead Child Development Center, which is to open within a month. The Center, which is sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary, governed by a local Child Care Advisory Board and supported financially by private contributions and federal matching funds, is to be housed in the old Rosenwald school building behind Hopewell school. (See bottom photo.)

It will be an educational preschool facility for children of low-income working parents. Applications are now being processed for enrollment and a limit of 25 children has been set. As required, four adults, volunteers and salaried employees will be working with the children at all times. One meal and two snacks will be served daily and a proper balance between study, rest and play will be provided.

As the top photo depicts, the Center looks rather bleak and barren at present and the Junior Auxiliary is working to make as many improvements as possible, but funds for this purpose are very limited. A number of donors have come forward with badly needed items, but quite a few articles are yet needed before the Center opens.

These items are: old sheets and covers, air conditioner, paint, window shades, indoor and outdoor play equipment, books, records, toys, bookshelves, room dividers, piano, easels, indoor and outdoor plants and volunteer workers.

Individuals, businesses and organizations wishing to make donations may contact Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr. at 777-3327 or Mrs. Albert Graves at 777-2308.

Stars Finally on a Streak, 4 in a Row

Consumer Education Class at Hope High

J. Garner Reynolds of Little Rock spoke to the consumer education class at Hope High School last week. Students in the picture are Sandra Stevenson, Sharma Willmon, Nancy Porter, LaJuanna Rowe, Marcia Gray, Glen Black, and Herman Williams.

Consumer Education, a newly organized class at Hope High School is studying about the goods and services available in Hempstead County. They have had a number of speakers visiting with them recently.

J.T. Bowden, from the Employment Security Division, spoke on the services offered by the local office.

J. Garner Reynolds from Little Rock, the business agent for the Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, told the class about Labor unions and the history of the labor movement. Employees of Meyers Bakery may belong to this union. Kenneth Hargis, field representative of the Social Security Administration, showed a film and discussed how social security benefits people.

Cecil Guthrie, county executive director of the local ASCS office, presented Jack Stuart, county executive director trainee, in a program on the Government's role in agriculture. They outlined the purposes and services provided by the local ASCS office.

Stressing the importance of Consumer Education in other courses, the Homemaking II classes were recently bussed to the local J.C. Penney Store as a climax to their study of fibers and weaves.

Family Living classes investigated the prices and availability of clothing for infants.

Arrangements for the trip were made by Forrest Singleton, manager, and the girls were assisted by Mrs. Dora Russell, Mrs. Edna Britt, and Mrs. Anna McCorkle.

Mrs. Helen Clark and Mrs. Estelle Spearman instruct the Home Economics and Consumer Education, and Family Living classes.

Data About Your Social Security

By KEN HARGIS

If you have any questions regarding social security, I invite your letters. Just send them to Social Security Administration, Ken Hargis, P.O. Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas.

QUESTION: I will be 60 in April. I work for $30.00 a week. If I stop work at age 61 would I draw as much social security as I would if I worked until age 62, at the same salary?

ANSWER: You were born in April 1910. Since you are a woman we will have to take 16 best years in figuring your social security retirement benefits. If you already have 16 years when you earned $30.00 a week, the additional year between age 61 and 62 will not raise your social security check. If you have less than 16 years, that year between ages 61 and 62 will raise your check.

QUESTION: My husband and I are separated and he has talked to a lawyer about a divorce. We have been married 27 years. I am age 64 and am receiving social security benefits on his record. Will my checks stop if he divorces me?

ANSWER: Your checks will continue since you have been married to him more than 20 years and are past age 62.

QUESTION: My daughter and I are receiving social security checks because of the death of my husband. My daughter, who is age 12, will live with my sister and her husband next school year and possibly longer. If the arrangement is satisfactory. This will be in another state. I plan to work. What will this do to our checks?

ANSWER: Your payment will stop because you will no longer have a child in your care. Checks for your daughter will continue but you should contact your social security office so that we may determine to whom the child's check should be sent.

QUESTION: I am a widow and I am wondering what remarriage would do to my social security benefits.

ANSWER: If you are past the age of 60, remarriage could mean a reduction in your check, but not a termination. If your new husband is a social security beneficiary and you are at least age 62, you could be entitled immediately on his record, if the monthly amount was more than your widow's benefit.

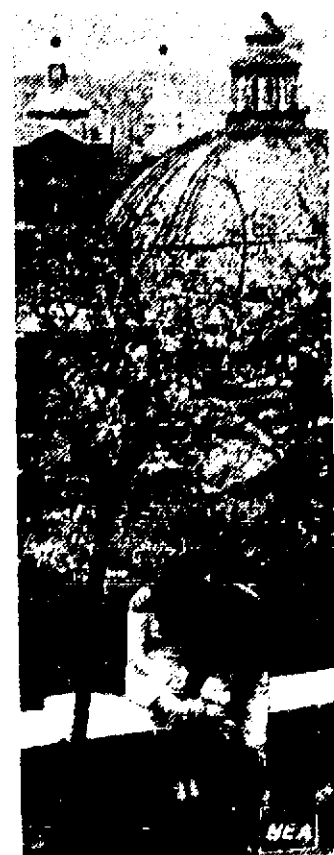

QUESTION: My employer is withholding social security tax from my wages. However, I am already receiving social security benefits, and I only work part-time. Is this right?

ANSWER: Your employer is doing the correct thing. The social security contribution must be withheld from your wages.
